Bei den Alchemisten gilt der durch das opus dargestellte Individuationsprozess als eine Analogie der Weltentstehung und das opus selber als eine solche des göttlichen Schöpfungswerkes. Die Archetypen und das Kollektive Unbewusste, GW, 9i, § 550

For the alchemists the process of individuation represented by the opus was an analogy of the creation of the world, and the opus itself an analogy of God's work of creation. Man was seen as a microcosm, a complete equivalent of the world in miniature. The Archetypes and the Collective Unconscious, CW 9i, § 550.

Gastdozenten

Im Folgenden sind kurze Beschreibungen und Fotos einiger unserer Gastdozenten publiziert. Informationen über ISAP-Fakultätsmitglieder finden Sie auf unserer Website.

Svetlana Zdravkovic, PhD, is a Jungian Analyst (IAAP, IGAP) with specialization in medical psychology. She works at the Institute of Mental Health in Belgrade, Serbia. She is the PR of the Institute, the Coordinator of the Cabinet of psychology and the President of the Wednesday's Cultural Circle. There, she teaches a basic course in "Analytical Psychology and Creativity". She is a frequent guest lecturer in ISAP Zurich and IGAP (London).

Magi Guindi was born in Mexico and obtained her academic education in Mexico, Switzerland, Paris and the USA. She trained at ISAP and is currently a Jungian analyst in private practice in Los Angeles. She has lectured on various topics such as dreams, fairytales, the coniunctio of masculine and feminine, and on individuation. She is fluent in English, French and Spanish. Flamenco dance and healing with essential oils are two of her passions.

Guest Presenters

You will find below short descriptions and photos of some of our guest lecturers. Information on ISAP faculty members is posted on our website.

Irene Cioffi Whitfield is a Senior Analyst and lecturer with IGAP, London, and an associate member of the JPA, New York City. She has a Ph.D. from the Institute of Fine Arts at New York University, specialising in Baroque and Rococo painting. Her area of interest is the interaction of art and psychology. She has prior experience working in psychiatric hospitals as an analyst and now has a private practice in London.

Lisa M. Holland is a recent graduate of ISAP. A psychotherapist for over 20 years, she now works as Jungian psychoanalyst in private practice, specializing in imagination, embodiment and trauma. She has presented at numerous conferences and workshops in the USA and abroad, and is currently working on a book on assertion, self-agency and the symbol of the spine. In the last decade she has lived in Spain, Switzerland and Italy.

Angela M Connolly is a psychiatrist and Jungian analyst practicing in Rome. She teaches, lectures and supervises internationally. She is on the advisory board of the Journal of Analytical Psychology (JAP) and Vice-President of the IAAP. Among her recent publications are 'Cognitive aesthetics of alchemical imagery' (JAP, 58(1)); 'Out of the body: embodiment and its vicissitudes' (JAP, 58(5)); 'From Tradition to Innovation', Spring, 2015.

Luigi Zoja is a former President of IAAP (International Association of Analytical Psychology). After finishing his studies at the C.G. Jung Institute in Küsnacht, Zoja worked for several years there at a clinic and later practiced in New York. He currently maintains a practice in Milan and lectures regularly in Italy and abroad. His papers and books have been translated into 15 languages.

Eileen Nemeth is a Jungian Analyst in Zürich. Her previous profession as dancer and dance therapist is integrated in her analytical work. She has for many years been researching what Jung said about the body and bringing these invaluable insights to various Jung Societies in Europe through seminars and lectures.

Patricia Skar, MFA, is an IAAP Jungian analyst in private practice in Zürich and Thun. She is also a performing musician, and has been developing her way of using music improvisation in analysis and writing about this subject since 1992. She has lectured widely on a variety of Jungian topics in many clinical and academic settings, including Trinity College, Dublin and Oxford University. For more information, please visit www.patriciaskar.com

Ellen Celi, PhD, psychotherapist /SPV, works in private practice with children, adolescents and adults. She has worked in the Psycho-oncological Research Project in the Kinderspital, Zurich, as well as in Kinderdorf Pestalozzi, Trogen, with traumatized and behaviorally disturbed orphaned children. Since 1995, she has taken part in the Group Project for War-traumatized children, sponsored by the School Psychological Services of the city of Zurich.

Vicki Reiff, MA, psychotherapist/SPV, received her MA in Art Therapy at Pratt Institute, New York. She graduated from the C.G. Jung Institute, Zurich in 1995 and works in private practice in Zurich with children, adolescents and adults. She has also worked in the Bronx Children's Psychiatric Center and in Kinderdorf Pestalozzi, Trogen. Since 1995, she takes part in the Group Project for War-traumatized Children, sponsored by the city of Zurich.
