Traumdeutung nach C.G. Jung

- Träume überbringen uns Botschaften, die verstanden werden wollen. Sie reagieren auf Erleben und Gedanken aus dem Wachleben. Sie berichten von Gefühlen, die im Moment nicht wahrgenommen werden. Sie machen uns auf die tiefen Gründe für unser Verhalten aufmerksam.
- Ob bedrückend, verwirrend oder wunderschön, Träume sind eine heilsame und reichhaltige Quelle an Erkenntnissen über uns selbst.
- Die Träume haben ihre eigene Sprache; sie sprechen in Bildern ähnlich wie Märchen, Sagen und Religionen aller Zeiten. Wenn wir ihren Hinweisen und unseren Einfällen dazu nachgehen, werden verborgene Kräfte freigelegt.
- Welche Anregung will mir der Traum geben? Warum gerade jetzt?

The 18th Jungian Odyssey Annual Conference & Retreat

The exiled or dark feminine can be described to be that locus within psyche, that takes us down to the cave of destruction, despair and death, yet unveils herself as the source of solace, fecundity, even rebirth. She reveals herself through the warrior goddesses Kali and Morrigan, the scorned, owl-footed Lilith. She resides in the revered Black Madonnas and the vengeful witches of fairy tales. We are called to explore this wild, at times desolate territory and to discover, honor and integrate this powerful archetype, relevant to women and men. Maligned and dismissed throughout millennia of domination of spirit over matter, logic over feeling, she is now erupting within us individually and calling out to us collectively. She demands a more conscious recognition of and engagement with her balancing remedy, in service of a healthier inner and outer ecology.

“When you see your matter
going black, rejoice:
for that is the beginning of the work.”

ISAPZURICH, in conjunction with the IAAP Congress, opens its doors to share two painting collections.

The Blum Collection is a sequence of 43 paintings by David Blum donated to ISAP by Sarah Blum. This psychological legacy shows his journey grappling with cancer.

The ISAP Picture Collection comprises materials from clients who have been in analysis in the tradition of C.G. Jung's analytical psychology. The exquisite paintings of one of these artists will be exhibited.

Join us for an apéro to celebrate both collections on 28 August 19:00–20:00!

Jungian Keynotes Lecture Series

Key Concepts in Analytical Psychology

We will journey through the psyche, meeting such phenomena as ego, Self, complexes, archetypes, persona, shadow and many more. In this process we will familiarise ourselves with the major themes and concepts of Analytical Psychology.

Jungian Keynotes Lecture Series

An Example of Jungian Dream Interpretation

Concepts of Analytical Psychology will be explored and applied to one of Jung's dreams from Memories, Dreams, Reflections.

The ISAPZURICH Picture Exhibit and Collection

The purpose of the Picture Collection is the creation of an anonymized material collection and database of pictures from clients who have been in analysis with a therapist or analyst trained in the tradition of C.G. Jung's Analytical Psychology. We have secured this artistic material in order to make it available to ISAPZURICH analysts and students for the purposes of learning, teaching and research.

Jungian Keynotes Lecture Series

Masculine Figures in Dreams: The Meaning and Value of Jung's Concept of the Animus

The best way to understand the sometimes confusing and controversial concept of the animus is to look at what the male figures in dreams—from baby boys to old men—may be depicting. For simplicity's sake we will focus on male figures in the dreams of women; it can, however, be argued that men's psyches are also inhabited by the autonomous animus that Jung described.

As a natural scientist and a Jungian Analyst, I show how the evolution of our biology and our psyche can reveal what male means in dreams. We will then be able to recognize the tremendous value of the concept of the animus.

Jungian Keynotes Lecture Series

Dreams and Transference

This lecture will take up content related to transference dreams, the role of dreams in relating to the transference, and the role of dreams and transference in an individual's development.

Jungian Keynotes Lecture Series

“When the Bough Breaks...”: Dreaming the Lost Child. Perinatal and Early Infant Loss Dreams

This lecture will present an overview of the unique nature of childbearing loss and the parents' ensuing search for meaning. Based on the dreams of parents gathered while I was a consultant to the Pregnancy and Infant Loss Center in Minnesota, this lecture will outline mourning within the context of Neumann's “archetype of the way”. I will explore how dreams of the lost child enhance the full expression of grief by maintaining an emotional connection between the parents and the child throughout the intermediate realm of the “Here and the Hereafter”.

Jungian Keynotes Lecture Series

Dreams in the Face of Disability, Illness and Death: Interpretation of a Dream Series

I will interpret a series of helpful and consoling dreams of a woman during her final year of life.

Jungian Keynotes Lecture Series

Dreams as Simulations: Analytical Psychology and Cognitive Science

The lecture will explore how modern cognitive research on dreams as simulations can be compared with Jungian dream theory. I will be discussing research on dreaming in rats and birds as well as the use of simulation games for practicing high risk undertakings. I will also be looking at human dreams that challenge our ability to deal with awkward social situations; such dreams help us expand our repertoire of coping strategies.

02 12 Lecture - Psychology of Dreams

Joanne Wieland-Burston, PhD

Friday

28 February | 15:00–16:45

Jungian Keynotes Lecture Series

Dreams and Creativity

Dreams can not only help us find solutions to complex problems, they can also offer solutions to simpler problems. Their seemingly chaotic messages provide us with challenges that actually help us learn to deal with chaos and, therefore, to become more creative.

Jungian Political Analysis

First lecture: on political consciousness, psychopolitical healing and conspiracy theories. How does the Jungian theory of complexes explain the stability of oppressive political regimes? What does Jung's study of flying saucers tell us about the recent proliferation of conspiracy theories?

Second lecture: on fanaticism and societal polarization. Jung viewed fanaticism as resulting from the repression of secret doubts about one's political or religious "truths." How can this insight help us to understand populism, the life cycle of fanatical Islamists and societal polarization?

The Shadow Within Us and Our Narcissism: A Connection?

What does our narcissism have to do with the shadow within us? The shadow contains the uncomfortable, unaccepted sides in us; thus, confronting the shadow is a difficult process in the work. It is even more delicate to track down the link with narcissistic behaviour. To compensate for the shadow, a person may develop a kind of "negative narcissism." The lecture will study these connections as well as the difference between positive and negative narcissism.

Grimms' Fairy Tale "Allerleirauh" (or "All-Kinds-of-Fur") and the Liberation of the Feminine from the Dominating Father Archetype

In this lecture the fairy tale "Allerleirauh" about the incestuous wishes of a king towards his daughter is interpreted. What does incest mean symbolically and psychologically? What can this fairy tale tell us about how a woman can deal with incest or incestuous wishes from her father? How can a daughter with a negative father complex free herself? How can the archetypal feminine (Eros principle) be developed in a society dominated by the archetypal masculine (Logos principle)?

01 29 Lecture - Fundamentals of Analytical Psychology

Chiara Tozzi, PhD

Thursday & Friday

28 March | 10:00–11:45

28 March | 17:00–18:45

Active Imagination – The Special Legacy of C.G. Jung

The lecture will be related to Chiara Tozzi's research on Active Imagination and the resulting book published by Routledge. On the first day the lecture will focus predominantly on Active Imagination theory, practice and training. On the second day the lecture will focus on different fields related to Active Imagination, with special reference to Active Imagination and film language.

01 30 Lecture - Fundamentals of Analytical Psychology

Brigitte Egger, Dr. sc. nat. ETH

Friday

28 March | 15:00–16:45

4 April | 15:00–16:45

On-site & Live on Zoom

Complementarity and the Struggle for Wholeness

Complementarity is a key principle of life, creativity, healing and peace. It means teaming up with an utterly other—be it sexual, political or even unconscious. As diversity is the lot of the manifest world and unity rather a transcendent principle, wholeness requires the utmost individual effort to unite opposites. It requires a great deal of respect for the other while consciously limiting oneself. Our fragmented and polarized world would profit from concentration on and orientation to this life principle. With examples from biology, psychology (individuation, alchemy, gender), politics (war, democracy) and dance.

08 31 Lecture - Developmental Psychology

Josephine Evetts-Secker, Professor Emerita, Rev.

Tuesday, Wednesday & Thursday

1 April | 15:00–16:45

2 April | 15:00–16:45

3 April | 15:00–16:45

The Drama of the Parent-Child Agon: Gifted Parents and Gifted Children

Through literature, art, myth, fairy tale, dream and case material, the lectures will explore the dynamics and the archetypal web of destructive and facilitating complexity.

05 34 Lecture - Ethnology & Psychology

Maria Anna Bernasconi, lic. phil.

Tuesday

8 April | 13:00–16:45

15 April | 13:00–16:45

What Can the Dead Tell Us?

I will be examining Valaisan folk tales about the dead from a psychological and an ethnological point of view. The folk tales are from a very rich body of Valaisan legends.

11 37 Open Seminar - Individuation

Jeffrey Kiehl, PhD

16 April | 10:00–11:45

16 April | 13:00–14:45

The Alchemical Journey: Transrational Dimensions of Psychic Healing

In 1940 Jung stated that, "...alchemy [strives] to help a psychic potentiality hidden in unconscious nature to develop and unfold in the greatest possible way, by working from inside out, removing hinderances to the soul in its striving towards light." Jung realized our journey to wholeness is mirrored in alchemical substances, colors, and laboratory operations. In this presentation, I use alchemical images to explore specific alchemical stages that allow us to work through "hinderances to the soul." Emphasis will be on the dimensions of transrational experiences which are important for our healing process.

11 42 Lecture - Individuation

Suzanne van Oosten, MA MWO

Friday

25 April | 13:00–14:45

Introduction to Voice Dialogue – a Technique for Giving Different Parts of Ourselves a Voice

This introduction explores the theory of the Jungian Analyst Hal Stone on Voice Dialogue. Voice Dialogue makes it possible to express lesser-known parts of ourselves, points of view and opinions or desires in an experimental and playful way. After a review of the theory and method of Voice Dialogue, we will look closely at how it can be of value in Jungian Analysis.

05 45 Lecture - Ethnology & Psychology

Penelope Yungblut, MA

Tuesday & Friday

29 April | 13:00–14:45

2 May | 13:00–14:45

6 May | 13:00–14:45

9 May | 13:00–14:45

"Double, Double, Toil, and Trouble ...": The Wrath of the Injured Feminine

When we ignore the emotional impact of our behavior on others, we can deeply wound them. If this emotional injury is not processed, it can be projected and acted out. We will examine cases in Greek drama of explosive rage and retaliation. We will ask what reparations might have been made. What role does culture play? How may we heal from relational wounds?

03 46 Lecture - Psychological Interpretation of Myths & Fairy Tales

Jesamine Mello, M.S.

Tuesday

29 April | 15:00–16:45

Waking the Sleeping Beauty: Archetypal Passages of Transformation in the Feminine

Drawing from experience and casework, I explore the instinctual/biological basis of the Feminine. The fact that she is seen as both nurturing and destructive indicates that her manifestation as a killing force has a purpose: to push toward consciousness. An introduction to fairy tales highlights the archetypal basis of transformation; links to real-life experiences show how these processes manifest today. This lecture aims to deepen our understanding of what Jung meant by the feminine archetype, emphasizing her connection to the body and her instinctual roots while encouraging active participation in order to bring the content to life.

11 49 Lecture - Individuation

Francisco Garcia, B.S., M.Ed.

Thursday

8 May | 10:00–11:45

On-site & Live on Zoom

The Meaning of Suffering

There are four factors that must be considered by a therapist/analyst when attempting to gain a clearer understanding of mental illness. These factors are biological, psychological, social and existential/spiritual. Each factor must be considered if we wish to come to a comprehensive understanding of mental illness. However, in this context, I will limit myself to the existential/spiritual and psychological factors.

04 54 Lecture - Psychological Interpretation of Pictures

Paul Brutsche, Dr. phil.

Tuesday & Thursday

13 May | 10:00–11:45

15 May | 10:00–11:45

On-site & Live on Zoom

Jungian Odyssey Prelude

Color Symbolism in Paintings

In this course we will be studying color symbolism through the paintings of various analysts.

01 55 Lecture - Fundamentals of Analytical Psychology

Diane Cousineau Brutsche, Dr. phil.

Tuesday & Thursday

13 May | 13:00–14:45

15 May | 13:00–14:45

On-site & Live on Zoom

Jungian Odyssey Prelude

Lady Soul

“Soul” is a familiar word for Jungians. In spite of this, the notion tends to remain somewhat vague. Using a mythological figure as its archetypal foundation, this lecture aims to contribute to our understanding of soul as a specific psychological entity.

11 56 Lecture - Individuation

Gábor Majdán, MSc

Tuesday

13 May | 15:00–16:45

On-site & Live on Zoom

Jungian Odyssey Prelude

The Alchemy of Winemaking

We will explore the steps of winemaking; examining the psychological symbolism of the steps, we shine light on the origins of wine's religious significance. By treating the steps of winemaking as alchemical images, winemaking becomes a metaphor and guide to the coniunctio. The aim of this lecture is to present the nature of various alchemical states and operations and to reflect on their relationship to individuation.

06 57 Lecture - Religion & Psychology

Susanna Bucher, Dr. sc. nat. ETH

Thursday

15 May | 15:00–16:45

On-site & Live on Zoom

Jungian Odyssey Prelude

Facing the Ecological Abyss: A Collective Search for Transformation

In E.A. Poe's short story "A Descent into the Maelström" (1841) three fishermen are trapped in a gigantic ocean whirlpool that is threatening to destroy them. This strikes me as a suitable image for our ecological crisis. According to Jung, modern materialistic collective consciousness has lost its spiritual foundation. Building on Erich Neumann and Dorothee Sölle, I examine approaches toward a more mystical relationship with nature. Symbolically, Poe's story tells us that psychic transformation of the collective can be achieved by letting go of the old and embracing the new and unknown.

11 58 Lecture - Individuation

Jakob Lusensky, MSc

Friday

16 May | 10:00–11:45

On-site & Live on Zoom

Jungian Odyssey Prelude

"The Undiscovered Self": Individuation and Participation in Times of Turmoil

Jung's essay "The Undiscovered Self" ("Gegenwart und Zukunft"), written in the late 1950s, holds insights about the purpose and role of cultivating interiority and a religious attitude in times of political and social turmoil. In this lecture I analyze the text and engage in a discussion of what we can learn about ways of navigating individuation and collective participation in today's turbulent world.

05 59 Lecture - Ethnology & Psychology

Peter Ammann, Dr. phil.

Friday

16 May | 13:00–14:45

On-site & Live on Zoom

Jungian Odyssey Prelude

Rock Art and Psyche: Rock Paintings, Hunting and the Emergence of Directed Consciousness

How did early humans experience the origin of consciousness – or at least the prerequisites for it? I propose to explore this issue by having a closer look at rock art in connection with hunters and hunting. By using slides and videos as well as stories and myths, I will try to shed some light on the crucial importance of rock art regarding that extraordinary turning point in the evolution of the hominids: the origin of consciousness and the emergence of humans as the “symbolic species”.
